

It's like a light inside black hole - something you can't describe in language, but you somehow know it exists
A place that feels 'black': where everything is present and absent same time. yet undeniably there

- pre-concept Awareness Layer

