Academic, research, educational, and exploratory use is allowed

Partial citation is fine

Interpretation is allowed if the core structure is preserved

What is required

Credit the author: senka L8
That's all.

No prior permission required.

What this applies to

Public LinkedIn posts

Public PDFs and whitepapers

Public diagrams, definitions, and model descriptions

What this does not cover

Private drafts or unpublished materials

Internal notes or AI conversation logs

Full institutional or commercial implementation
(For those cases, the full policy applies.)

Simple rule

If someone reading your work can trace it back and the structure is not distorted, you're good to go.

Why this exists

This guideline is designed to:

Reduce fear around citation

Encourage reuse and discussion

Keep attribution clear and lightweight

If you're unsure, start with citation.
Nothing breaks by citing.
